 - (b) do anything reasonably necessary for passing across each such lot for the purpose of haulage, including:
 - entering the lot burdened, and
 - taking anything including vehicles, including, without limitation, coal trucks, on to the lot burdened, and
 - carrying out work within the site of this easement, such as constructing, placing, repairing or maintaining trafficable surfaces or structures including bridges.
2. In exercising those powers, the body having the benefit of this easement must:
 - (a) ensure all work is done properly, and
 - (b) cause as little inconvenience as is practicable to the owner of the lot burdened, and
 - (c) cause as little damage as is practicable to the lot burdened and any improvement on it, and
 - (d) restore the lot burdened as nearly as is practicable to its former condition, and
 - (e) make good any collateral damage.

3. The body having the benefit of this easement must, at its own cost, maintain to a proper standard any bridge structures on the land of which the site of this easement forms part regardless of the ownership of such bridge structures. For the avoidance of doubt:
- (a) the body having the benefit of this easement must:
- (i) maintain and, where required, replace anything on or within the bridge structure including all expansion joints, and
 - (ii) maintain and, where required, replace any batter or embankment related to the bridge structure, and

- all actions, suits, claims and demands of whatsoever nature that may be brought against those indemnified, and
 - all costs, charges and expenses that those indemnified may incur in respect of any accident, injury and death and/or damage or loss including indirect loss to any person or property, which may be contributed to or caused by the use and occupation of the site of this easement by the body having the benefit of this easement and any persons authorised by that body despite that:
 - the terms and conditions of this easement have in all respects been observed by the body having the benefit of this easement, or
 - any such accident, injury and/or damage or loss arises from any act or thing that the body having the benefit of this easement may be authorised or compelled to do by the terms and conditions of this easement, and
 - all costs, charges and expenses that those indemnified may incur in respect of any breach of the terms of the easement by the body having the benefit of this easement and any persons authorised by that body
- provided however that this indemnity will not be deemed to cover any action, suit, claim, demand, costs, charge or expense to the extent arising from negligence on the part of any of those indemnified.

For the avoidance of doubt, this clause does not operate to restrict the rights of those indemnified to seek damages at common law or in equity.

6. The rights granted to the body having the benefit of this easement extend to and for the benefit of any persons authorised by that body including the body’s employees, officers, agents, contractors and licensees.
7. The person empowered to release, vary or modify this right of access is the body having the benefit of this easement.”

LEGAL PROFESSION ACT 2004 (NSW)

Section 708

Proposed New Solicitors' Rules

Proposed New South Wales Professional Conduct and Practice Rules 2013 (Solicitors' Rules)

THE Council of the Law Society of NSW intends to revoke the Revised Professional Conduct and Practice Rules 1995 and make the following Rules under s.703 of the NSW Legal Profession Act 2004.

These Rules comprise:

- (a) the Australian Solicitors' Conduct Rules adopted by the Law Council of Australia on 18 June 2011 (Rules 1-43), and
- (b) those Rules in the Revised Professional Conduct and Practice Rules 1995 which deal with the practice of law in NSW under the Legal Profession Act 2004 and are therefore outside the coverage of the Australian Solicitors' Conduct Rules (Rules 44-58).

The object of the Proposed New South Wales Professional Conduct and Practice Rules 2013 (Solicitors' Rules) is to adopt the Australian Solicitors' Conduct Rules, which are the work of the Law Council of Australia and its constituent bodies towards a single, uniform set of professional conduct rules and are an important step towards creating a national legal profession in Australia. Their adoption will ensure that all Australian solicitors are bound by a common set of professional obligations and ethical principles when dealing with their clients, the courts, their fellow legal practitioners and other persons.

The function and purpose of the Proposed Solicitors' Rules is to combine the Australian Solicitors Conduct Rules with certain current Practice Rules which deal with practice of law in NSW to establish a standard of behaviour or conduct that should be observed by practitioners in NSW in certain circumstances. They are an accepted measure for the use of practitioners so they can ensure that they act appropriately in the circumstances demonstrated in the Rules, and disciplinary bodies providing the baseline against which to compare conduct by a practitioner that fits within the circumstances provided for in the Rules.

Comments or submissions are to be forwarded to The Secretary of the Law Society of NSW within 21 days of the date of this publication - 170 Phillip Street, Sydney NSW 2000 or email: Secretary@lawsociety.com.au.

The proposed rules are available on the Law Society of NSW website: www.lawsociety.com.au/advocacy.

PESTICIDES ACT 1999

Order issued by Environment Protection Authority under Section 115

THE following exemption is granted by the Environment Protection Authority (Authority) in accordance with section 115 of the Pesticide Act 1999. Section 115 of the Act provides that the Authority may exempt a person or class of persons from a specified provision of the Act or Regulations under the Act. The Board of the Authority approves the granting of the exemption.

Dated: 17 July 2013.

BARRY BUFFIER,
Chair and CEO

PESTICIDES ACT 1999

Order granting conditional exemption under section 115

Background

- I. The Civil Aviation Act 1988 (Cth) regulates the safety of civil aviation in Australia and establishes the Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA). Regulation of civil aviation is covered in Division 2 of Part III of the Act and Part 101 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998 (Cth) for Unmanned Aircraft and Rockets.
- II. The NSW Pesticides Act 1999 and Pesticide Regulation 2009 require that aircraft businesses and pilots that aerially apply pesticides must each obtain separate licences from the Authority. The regulations prescribe separate qualifications for each licence. The Act also requires aircraft to be approved by CASA for aerial spray equipment in agricultural operations.

- III. Yamaha Motor Australia Pty Ltd (ACN 002 556 989) (Yamaha) has approached CASA, the Authority and pesticide regulatory agencies in other States to obtain pesticide permission to operate unmanned RMAX helicopters in Australia to aerially apply pesticides.

CASA Operator (Business) Certificates and Controller (Pilot) Certificates

- IV. CASA can authorise Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs) to conduct aerial work and may attach conditions. Because of its proposed commercial use, the RMAX is classed by CASA as a Remotely Piloted Aircraft (RPA).
- V. To operate a commercial RPA business in Australia, CASA requires each operator (or aircraft businesses) to obtain an Unmanned Operators Certificate (UOC) under clause 101.335 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998. The Commonwealth requires each operator and each franchise or subsidiary to have separate certification and each controller (or pilot) to have separate certification. This is similar to the NSW pesticide requirement to hold separate aircraft and pilot licences.
- VI. CASA has issued a UAV Operator Certificate to Yamaha which allows them to carry out aerial work with their RMAX helicopters. UOCs are also expected to be issued to Yamaha franchisees.
- VII. In accordance with clause 101.340 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998 conditions have been placed on these UAV Operator Certificates to ensure that the applicants have met conditions specific to the use of the RMAX units to apply pesticides aerially.
- VIII. Various Yamaha staff and franchisee staff have or will be issued with a UAV Controller Certificate under clause 101.295 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998 which allows them to use their RMAX helicopters for aerial work.

NSW Aircraft and Pilot Licences to aerially apply pesticides

- IX. Section 45 of the Pesticides Act 1999 requires a Pilot (Pesticides Rating) Licence and an Aircraft (Pesticide Applicator) licence.
- X. Clause 6 of the Pesticides Regulations 2009 prescribes relevant qualifications that applicants must hold under the Civil Aviation Act 1988 (Cth) in order to be granted either a Pilot (Pesticides Rating) Licence or an Aircraft (Pesticide Applicator) Licence. These training requirements are appropriate for manned aircraft.
- XI. As the prescribed qualification requirements for a Pilot (Pesticide Rating) Licence and an Aircraft (Pesticide Applicator) licence specified in the Act and Regulation are not consistent with those that CASA has deemed appropriate for the use of the RMAX Units, the Authority cannot currently issue aerial licences to Yamaha, its franchisees, staff and other CASA authorised businesses or individuals in respect of the use of RMAX Units for applying pesticides.

- XII. Section 48 of the Pesticides Act 1999 allows the Authority to refuse to grant a Pilot (Pesticides Rating) Licence or an Aircraft (Pesticide Applicator) licence if the applicant does not hold the qualifications prescribed by the regulations. However, the Authority intends that both the business and pilots using UAVs for applying pesticides be required to be licensed in NSW but only be required to hold the UAV qualification as specified by CASA and not the requirements for manned aircraft.
- XIII. On 17 July 2013 the Board of the Authority approved the granting of the exemption, subject to conditions outlined in the Exemption Order below.
- XIV. Other parties that seek to undertake a similar activity in the future will also be covered by this exemption, provided that all the relevant conditions are met.

Exemption Order

By this Order, the Environment Protection Authority (Authority), with the approval of the Board of the Authority, grants Yamaha Motor Australia Pty Ltd (ACN 002 556 989), its franchisees, staff and other CASA-authorized businesses and individuals, an exemption from clause 6 of the Pesticide Regulation 2009 in relation to prescribed qualifications for a aircraft or pilot licence for Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (UAVs).

The Authority is satisfied that:

- (a) It is not practicable to comply with clause 6 because it does not reference Commonwealth UAV requirements and
- (b) non-compliance with clause 6 will not have a significant adverse effect on public health, property, the environment or trade as the Authority considers the Commonwealth Certification conditions and licensing provisions of the Pesticides Act 1999 and Regulation properly cover any possible effects on the environment, public health and property. Not granting the exemption would adversely affect trade by the authorised parties in NSW.

Conditions

The exemption is granted under s.115(6) of the Pesticide Act 1999 subject to the following conditions:

1. Yamaha, its staff, its franchisees, the staff of franchisees and other businesses and individuals authorised by CASA (the authorised parties) must meet all requirements:
 - In the case of a person or pilot controlling a UAV to apply pesticides, for a UAV Controller Certificate issued under clause 101.295 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998 (or an equivalent instrument), or
 - In the case of a business operating UAVs to apply pesticides, for an Unmanned Operators Certificate (UOC) issued under clause 101.335 of the Civil Aviation Safety Regulations 1998 (or an equivalent instrument).
2. The authorised parties must provide the above Certificates as 'required qualification particulars' to accompany any licence application, consistent with section 46 of the Act and clause 5 of the Regulation.
3. The authorised parties must immediately supply the Authority with particulars if they cease to hold the above CASA Certificates consistent with the requirements in sub section 53(2) of the Act.

4. The authorised parties must comply with all other statutory and Authority conditions in any licence and specifically all specified training requirements.

Time Exemption is in force

This exemption applies from the date of this notice and applies until revoked by the Authority, or for a maximum of five years whichever occurs first.
